ZwCAD 2007 Software

ZwCAD, Inc., the developers of quality CAD software, announced the release of its latest signature 2D/3D package, ZwCAD 2007 Pro. This new version provides dramatic new functionality and ease-of-use enhancements, as well as unrivaled DWG compatibility.

The DWG-based CAD system reads and writes the same industry standard formats produced by past and present versions of AutoCAD (2.5-2008), supports command line actions, true type fonts, MNU and SCR files, raster images, as well as SDS, LISP and VBA scripts to help clients develop custom macros and routines. The 2007 version also offers improved print functionality, as well as batch and shade printing support, multi-language support in text editor, Mline edits support and an improved Vista style interface enabling a user-friendly experience. ZwCAD 2007 now offers users the opportunity to choose their interface, selecting from Office XP, Windows Vista, Windows XP Lunar, and Windows XP Royale.

ZwCAD has added over 22 new features to ZwCAD 2007, and has improved more than 400 features, most based on valued clients' requests. Designers, engineers, and architects can discover the improved power and function of ZwCAD 2007 by downloading a free trial of the application. Current users of ZwCAD can update to the new 2007 version free for one year.

"ZwCAD 2007 is a major step forward in providing CAD users access to advanced technology at an affordable price," says Owen Zi, ZwCAD Director. "The philosophy behind ZwCAD is to give users the power to get things done, while reducing their CAD budget; the 2007 version has many improvements to help users with increased functionality, and productivity."

ZwCAD 2006i won acclaim and a wide audience of users internationally, both for its reliable and comprehensive 2D performance and for its expansive 3D capabilities, all for a fraction of the cost of AutoCAD - $589 per seat. Supported in over 42 countries worldwide, ZwCAD Software Co., Ltd., also includes a generous warranty, providing expert assistance and helpful updates to its network of users.
