Arbortext IsoCompose

The need for illustrated and interactive spare parts catalogs continues to grow. In the past, this relatively new approach for distributing information was primarily the domain of very large enterprises. Now, the efficiency and ease of online electronic catalogs is available and affordable for all organizations. Arbortext IsoCompose is a complete application for catalog creation and distribution. It speeds the work of documentation professionals in every phase of catalog production, from design to distribution, as well as subsequent revisions. This wizard-based application makes it easy and cost-effective for any organization-large and small-to quickly create high-quality electronic catalogs without any programming required.

Capabilities and Benefits

- The wizard-based user interface makes it easy to quickly create high-quality illustrated and interactive spare parts catalogs without any programming
- Automatically generate common catalog elements and capabilities, including homepage, table of contents, catalog pages, shopping basket, print functions, catalog search, and online help
- Interactively navigate the catalog in multiple ways: through a structured table of contents, online search, hyperlinks, and hotspots
- Support multiple languages in a single catalog
- Display interactive part illustrations
- Match catalog text to part numbers
- Automatically recreate electronic parts catalogs as information (text or illustrations) is revised
